FIELD ATTACKS BY GERMAN ARE REPULSED AGAIN

On Allies' Left Battle Still Continues With Violence Says French Official Report—Masses of Cavalry Are Now in Grip Nine Miles Northwest of Lille, Virtually on Belgian Border—German Army Reported to Have Been Defeated in the Battle of Augustow.

Paris, Oct. 7.—(3:08 p.m.)—The following official communication was given out in Paris this afternoon:
"On the left wing the battle still continues with violence. The opposing fronts extend into the region between Lens (nine miles northeast of Arras) and La Bassée (13 miles southeast of Lille) and are lengthened by masses of cavalry which are in grips as far as the vicinity of Armentières (9 miles northwest of Lille and virtually on the Belgian frontier).
"On the front extending from the Somme to the Meuse there is nothing to report.
"In the Woëvre district the enemy made a new effort to stop our progress, but his attacks again failed.
"In Russia the German army was defeated in the battle of Augustow.

TRENCHES AROUND AISNE RESEMBLE VAST MILITARY RABBIT WARREN, HE SAYS

Correspondent of Times Says Titanic Tragedy May Last for Many Weeks Yet—Both Sides Resolutely Determined Not to Give Ground—Germans Worn by Hard Campaigning.

London, Oct. 7.—The correspondent of the Times, at Reims, France, telegraphing under date of Sunday, says:
"The battle of the French rivers has entered upon its fourth week, and unless some flanking movement is carried through there appears no reason why the Titanic tragedy should not continue for a long time.
"Now that the perfection of the trench system is reached, by those of the allies, it has become a struggle in which one is pitted against an insubstantial force. The trench system appears suddenly from his hiding place. The country along the Aisne is a vast military rabbit warren.
"Both sides are resolutely determined not to give ground. The Germans are continually delivering attacks, but the allies are not making definite attempts to advance in this region. They are rather suddenly last week.
"The real business of the war is not all that is being done in the trenches. The waiting game is especially tedious to the African troops.
"One of the most useful articles of German war equipment is a rocket which gives a powerful illumination lasting for forty seconds above the ranks of the enemy, enabling the German artillery officers to obtain accurate range of the trenches.

REGRET EXPRESSED CANADIAN EFFORTS NOT BE MERGED

London, Oct. 7.—Regret is expressed by many Canadians in Great Britain that all efforts made by Canadians on the western front have not been merged in one, or at most, two schemes of war relief. The Canadian war contingent is the pride of the dominion. Since the collapse of the negotiations for the taking of the German empire hospital in Westchester, inquiries have been made for other suitable premises, but so far no result, and it is now probable that the Canadian war contingent will not be merged in the scheme of the Fifehouse hospital.
It is understood, however, that an opportunity has placed itself in the hands of a hospital in London, which is being advanced in accordance with our plans.
"In the vicinity of Tarnow, we routed a division of Russian infantry."
"Plans have been made for the founding of an Australian Institute of Engineering."
The value of the yearly rental of the Fifehouse hospital, which has been established in the residence left by Sir Arthur Markham, M.P., is $4,000. Sir Markham is now at the disposal of the hospital, and the hospital is all ready for the war effort, which is necessary for it can be devoted to the purpose for which it was established.

ALBERTA MOST PROMPT AND GENEROUS—SPEECH FROM THRONE AT OPENING SESSION

One of Twin Baby Sisters in Confederation is First to Give Aid to Empire and Most Generous According to Population—Second Session of Third Legislature Opens With Due Ceremony—Lieutenant-Governor Escorted From Government House by Detachment of 19th Dragoons.

Forecasting a short session and due economy in the provincial expenditures, and virtually requesting unanimity in regard to any legislation which may be introduced, Lieutenant-Governor G. H. V. Bulyea opened the second session of the third legislature of the province of Alberta, one of the twin youngsters in the Canadian confederation, Wednesday afternoon.
Escorted by a detachment of the 19th Alberta Dragoons, His Honor arrived at Government House at the legislative buildings a few minutes before three o'clock, and promptly at that hour the session was formally opened. A large crowd was in the galleries, many of them being from out of town.
The speech from the throne, as expected, was brief and made reference to the Alberta war and the parts played in it by the dominion and the province. The session will be short, it was almost certain by the fact that "only absolutely essential bills" will be introduced.
The speech from the throne was as follows:

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.
Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the legislative assembly:
I give you great pleasure to welcome you to the second session of the third legislature of the province of Alberta.
The fact that the empire which we form a part is now in a state of war renders the present occasion probably the most serious in the history of your assembly, and your best efforts will be required to meet the unusual conditions consequent upon the existing state of affairs in the empire.
As a consequence of the war, it has been considered both a duty and a privilege that troops should be raised in the dominion of Canada for the purpose of assisting his majesty's government, and I feel deeply gratified that the people of Alberta have responded to this call in a larger proportion than any other province in the dominion of Canada.

My government has considered it a divisible to give practical assistance in the way of supplies to the imperial government, and the fact that the province of Alberta was the first province to do so up to the time of the outbreak of the war, the most liberal in proportion to population, has been to me a source of great gratification and has received widespread commendation from all parts of the empire.

CIVIL SERVANTS UNANIMOUS.
The practical unanimity with which the civil service of Alberta have approved the proposals for assistance to the empire has been a source of great pleasure, and the liberal subscription will not only be of great assistance in itself, but will also be a source of great gratification to the imperial government, and I feel deeply gratified that the people of Alberta have responded to this call in a larger proportion than any other province in the dominion of Canada.

Only absolutely essential public bills will be introduced at this session, and, as the private bills are limited in number, it is hoped that at this session you may not be long detained from your other duties.
The public accounts for the last fiscal year will be laid before you, as well as the estimates of the amounts required for expenditure during the current year, all prepared with due regard to economy and the requirements of the public service.

Gentlemen of the legislative assembly:
I now leave you to the business of the session, having full confidence that your deliberations will be divinely guided to the best interests and welfare of the province.

SEVERAL RAILWAY BILLS WILL COME BEFORE ASSEMBLY

Extensions of Dunvegan and Waterways Roads and Some New Lines Planned.

FACTIOUS OPPOSITION BY CONSERVATIVES UNLIKELY
Three Cities Want to Amend Charters and Two Towns Ask for Privileges.

Nearly all the members of the Alberta legislature are now in the city and were present for the opening Wednesday afternoon.
Most of the opposition members are staying at the Alberta hotel. The session of the legislature will be held among three or four of the other city hostesses—Selkirk, Ceil, King Edward.

It is not expected that in the first place the government or any private member will introduce at the session any legislation which may be generally classed as contentious, or in the second place that the opposition will facetiously oppose any of the other kind which the liberals may introduce.

In the case of both sides are expected to be present, so that the whole province will be represented—except the late Charles Olin, died while.

Japanese Forces Occupy Island of Yap, of the Caroline Group

Peking, Oct. 7.—(7:45 p.m.)—According to a German news agency dispatch, Japanese forces have occupied the island of Yap, the most important island in the Caroline group, or New Philippines, in the Pacific ocean.
The Caroline Islands are east of the Philippines. The group is very extensive and comprises about 600 small islands. Yap is about 1,000 miles from the island of Mindanao, one of the Philippine group. The Caroline Islands were sold by Spain to Germany in 1899.

VIRULENT OUTBREAK ASIANIC CHOLERA IS REPORTED AT TARNOW

SHOT WAS FIRED IN SELF DEFENCE, SAYS THE ACCUSED

Charles Mason, Englishman, Facing Murder Charge in Supreme Court.

TWO MEN HAD OFTEN QUARRELED BEFORE Intended Shooting Him in the Leg But Unfortunely Hit Higher.

Charles Mason, an Englishman, was charged in the supreme criminal court Wednesday morning with the murder of George Penry, at Blackfoot, near Lloydminster, Alberta. The case was heard before a crowded court room, and was tried by Justice Walsh and a jury of twelve men.

Charles Mason, the accused, is 35 years old, and came to Canada from England last March. In London he was a clerk on the stock exchange for 15 years. He met Penry in Fort George last spring. Penry was a householder at Blackfoot. The two men met at George together on May 20, to come to Penry's home, where they stayed until July 15.

Mason, in his evidence this morning, stated that during his stay in Penry's house, they had had several rows because of the fact that Penry persisted in keeping Mason awake at night by pulling the blankets off him and otherwise raising a row. This occurred several times until Mason one night grew tired of Penry's conduct and got up and dressed, saying he would not sleep with him any longer. It was still early morning and raining outside, so he sat on a chair for a time.

"Penry got up," said Mason, "the lamp, seized the gun and put a shell in it and came within four or five feet of me. I jumped at him and we fought for the possession of the gun. He seized me by the throat and I got him by the throat. Chairs were upset and Penry drew near he rushed Mason with a knife and hit him in the back of the head. He was not dressed. Afterwards I went out and went to Woodwards."

Witness went on to say that he had told Penry several times to get back, but he got into a argument about a griddle and Penry came nearer. He had a whiskey flask in his hand at the time and took several drinks. When Penry drew near he rushed Mason with a bottle upraised as if to strike.

The case was adjourned until this afternoon.

German Armored Ships Shelling Papet Cause of Great Damage

San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 7.—Two enemy ships were seen, $2,000,000 damage done two vessels sunk and two blocks of business houses and real estate destroyed by the German armored ships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, in their bombardment last month of the French coast.

Resourceful German Commander Not Only Gets Out of Difficult Position But Places Enemy in Same as He Was in Short Time Ago—Counter Stroke is Viewed as Supreme Feature of Western Theater of War—Attempt to Cut Through French Cease Said to Have Been Foiled.

London, Oct. 7.—The conflict along the rivers of northern France, although now in its twenty-sixth day, shows few signs of an early ending than it did two days ago.

Then General Von Kluck appeared dangerously threatened by the enveloping movement of the allies' armies. Today that resourceful German commander, having obtained from an unknown source heavy reinforcements, apparently engaged in his turn in attempting to outflank the French and British lines.

This counter stroke is viewed here as the supreme feature of the western theater of war and its full significance can be gauged only by the action which alone are privileged to witness the conflict.

Cut Through Center.
Simultaneously with his newly launched turning movement General Von Kluck has been trying to cut right through the center of the allies' extended left, at Lassigny. The official French communication says that this attempt was foiled but it is not doubted that the effort will be renewed and in the event of success would compel the left of the French army to retire towards the coast in order to escape the German line, stretching out simultaneously from the north and east. The fighting in this neighborhood described in the French official report as "more and more violent." It is believed French to Antwerp and largely influence the fate of that fortress.

Further south, on the Vesle, German and Austrian forces are said to have dislodged the Russians from their entrenched position between Opatow and Orlowice, with heavy Russian losses in prisoners and guns. The Austrians also claim successes in Galicia.

On the other hand, the Russians are reported as steadily advancing to the westward and southward. The most recent British victim of mines is the steamer Ainsworth, which is variously reported as sent to the bottom by German and British mines.

Germans Claim Two More Forts at Antwerp Taken; Success Against Russians

Official Report Says Situation is Unchanged Along the Battle Front Between Oise and the Meuse—Stated Muscovites Have Lost 3,000 Prisoners and Many Machine Guns

Berlin, Oct. 7.—The following official report has been issued here:
"The situation remains unchanged along the battle front between the Oise and the Meuse, in the vicinity of Verdun, and in Alsace-Lorraine.

In the eastern theater of war the Russians advancing against east Prussia through the province of Suwalki have been checked. We have been successful in our attack against the enemy near the town of Suwalki. The movement began yesterday.

"In Russian Poland our troops on October 4 dislodged a Russian brigade of the Garde Pioneers from an entrenched position between the Opatow and Orlowice.

BRITISH STEAMER HITS THREE MINES IN NORTH SEA; CREW ARE RESCUED

London, Oct. 7.—A despatch to Reuters from Ostend says that the survivors from the British steamer Ardmore, which was sunk by three mines struck by mines. The Ardmore, they say, did not sink until she had struck a third mine. At the first explosion a lifeboat took off the crew of 25. The Ardmore, which was of 2,240 tons, left Ostend September 2, arriving at Falmouth October 4. She was then ordered to Antwerp, but soon after sailing she ran into a mine field in the North Sea and was sunk.

The Russians might try to shoot a few torpedoes out of Przemyl.

OFFER OF SECOND CANADIAN ARMY IS CABLED TO ENGLAND

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—The offer of the dominion government to raise a second contingent, 20,000 strong, for service abroad was cabled to the British war office last night and is now in the hands of Lord Kitchener. The acceptance of the offer by British war office is "a war of course, a certainty."

SUMMONING THE BOGEY OF THE ASSIGNATS

In view of the fact that the financial ineptness which conducts the editorial page of one of our alleged contemporaries is so enveloped in fog as to what actually constitutes money that he must needs quote irrelevantly from the Financial Times as the only available argument against a federal note issue to finance the back-to-the-land movement, it might be well to point to the fact that by recent act of the Dominion parliament the entire note issue of the chartered banks of Canada becomes legal tender, as a consequence of which the banks do not have to stand ready to buy it back with a real (gold) currency for the reason that the lithographed notes issued by the banks are now money.

These lithographs, now backed by the government as well as by the banks, are redeemable in what you like. By presenting one anywhere in the Dominion—not necessarily at a bank—the holder is entitled to receive for it the face value of the bill in whatever he desires; gold, ice cream, lime, false teeth, cement, plumbing, breakfast food, undertaking, any old thing. The lithograph is itself simply a token that the holder has become possessed of title to the much wealth, the bill constituting an accepted draft against the assets of the bank, backed by the tangible wealth and the moral rectitude of Canada. So long as convertible wealth to the extent of the aggregate note issue remains in the hands of the chartered banks who are primarily responsible for their redemption, or of the Dominion of Canada which, as a war measure, has become responsible as endorser of the notes are given, there is a tremendous percentage of Canada's wealth, upon which this banking rests, arises out of the pursuit of agriculture.

Thus, a carload or two of paper money printed by the Dominion authorities and applied—through a re-discounting house or how you will—toward the purchase of implements, stock and equipment to be used by farmers placed on the land would have behind it the wealth in agricultural assets of which it had been the medium of purchase, together with the productiveness of this much capital intelligently used. Its redemption would thereby be guaranteed by the greatest safeguard which any bill in this Dominion has today—the guarantee that Canada's basic industry will flourish and continue to pour wealth into the lap of the empire.

The bogey which the Financial Times and all other high priests of financial mysticism wave at timorous souls like the Journal is the bogey of the French assignats of 1793 and John Laws South Sea Bubble currency, the purpose being to create a vision of a hungry horde standing behind the lithographing presses filling sacks with the green paper, gratis. In well-regulated countries they do not do this any more, although some countries have not gotten very far from it even yet. In Germany, for instance, the results of something at this present moment which, in its results, amounts to much the same thing as handing the money out without a consideration.

In raising the latest war loan the German chancellor has resorted to the arbitrary method of annexing 25 per cent. of the savings on deposit in the banks, giving the depositors bonds for the sums. Foreign balances are annexed in the same way and the foreigner who has been looking to Germany for a settlement is told that he has been credited with millions in the German bond issue. This money thus pirated is being turned up in war munitions and equipment and in provender and clothing for a vast army engaged in gigantic operations of destruction. This much wealth is being absolutely dissolved and dissipated. In the finish there will be nothing tangible left of the wealth which the bonds originally represented and the bond-holders will thus be in possession of a token against which there is no convertible collateral. If Germany survives and if through the pursuit of production in the subsequent era of peace, she is able to replace this aggregate of burned-up wealth the bond holders may get their money back out of the product of the toil of future generations. If not, the bond-holders get nothing for the simple reason that there is nothing to get. In a similar situation United States floated millions upon millions of greenbacks which were subsequently made good for the reason that the Union government survived and was sufficiently productive to make good the loss. In the same situation, however, the secessionist government became worthless for the reason that the secessionist government collapsed, and those who held the paper had no claim which they could enforce against the productiveness of the people of the southern states.

There is this difference between a government financing a military campaign and a government financing a back-to-the-land movement that whereas the first is a movement to destroy the wealth which would naturally constitute the security for a national note issue the latter is a movement to increase and multiply it.

The war issue naturally resolves itself into a bubble currency. But there could be no bubble currency about a national note issue which gained circulation through a program that increased its face value many fold.

The objection to such a program comes—quite naturally—from those to whom government has inconsiderately assigned a franchise to issue tokens of wealth, commonly known as bank notes, and the method pursued in urging this objection is invariably to surround the practices of finance with mysticism and summon the bogey of the bubble assignats.

A WILD LAND TAX AS A WAR MEASURE.

"What the world really wants," says the Calgary Herald, "is permanent relief from the land speculators," and advocates for this purpose "a special annual tax on all cultivable land held in an undeveloped state, making the tax heavy enough to induce the speculator holders to either work the land themselves or sell it at reasonable prices to men who are willing to work it."

This is good economics, even though it does come from such an unexpected source as the leading conservative newspaper of the province.

The truth, which is becoming more plain to Western Canadians every day, is that besides there being no moral justification whatever for any man holding land which he does not use and does not intend to use, there can be no economic advantage to the country at large. Any price set on wild land by a non-using owner is simply a barrier placed against the country's development. For the government to confiscate it would be unreasonable. But the government surely has the right to tax the holder of unused land at a rate consistent with the damage he does the country by holding land out of use. Even British Columbia, Boverized and all as it is, recognizes this by levying a wild land tax of five per cent. A wild land tax in Alberta which would make the holding of undeveloped land unprofitable would be salutary legislation and a species of enactment which the government could quite well take up at the forthcoming session on the grounds that it is essentially a war measure, intended to facilitate the increase of the aggregate of production in this province at a time when the British empire needs every bushel of grain that can be produced.

THE POINT WHERE POVERTY HURTS.

(Contributed)

A kind-hearted nurse some few days since was advising a mother concerning the necessity of nourishing food for her delicate child. The mother listened easily but patiently to the nurse's counsel. In the midst of the conversation the father entered the room and, fortify his appeal, the professional visitor addressed him. In some such way as this: "You must see that plenty of—here followed a list of nourishing foods—richly understood would have been good for the child—'are kept constantly in the house'—or some minutes the father listened in docile silence. Every word that was spoken cut to the heart of those fond and anxious parents. Unable further to endure the strain or conceal the wolf that had stalked up to their door, the husband responded: 'But nurse, it is absolutely impossible for us to purchase those things. God knows we give our little one the best, but in these times we are absolutely helpless.' Poverty was cutting into their lives, the place where the house must feed it. Fortunately the case of this child having been brought to the attention of a kind-hearted nurse, a little tot will not suffer or die from lack of nourishment which its conditions, for requires, and for which hundreds are bound to suffer during this season of strain and stress.

The wealthy child, which is everywhere co-existent with unbounded wealth and luxury is always ugly and repellent because it is the cradle it assumes its most hideous form. Underfed an poorly fed, the child of poverty is handicapped from the beginning. It is doomed to die in infancy or to grow up weak and weak in body and mind, inefficient and unfitted for the battle of life. A picture which attracted a great deal of attention a year or two ago at the Toronto exhibition was that of a mother with her babe at her breast. Underneath was written these words: "The baby is getting a square deal. It is in the hope that society may be induced to solve the problem of giving a square deal to the innocent victims of poverty, ignorance, carelessness or crime that this brief article is written.

With barbaric cruelty civilization has insisted that the sins of improvident parents be visited upon their children, sometimes to the third or fourth generation. There is little doubt that much of the poverty in which many families live is due to the poor management, reckless expenditure, drink, gambling and laziness account for a great deal of distress. It is human nature to say to parents who have made no effort to provide for their children, "You have made your bed, you must lie in it." But the children of those parents could not choose the homes into which they were born or the conditions that would surround their fragile lives. During those early years when their foundations of physical, intellectual and moral life are laid. Helpless and innocent, they are compelled to suffer with the guilty. The cry of the child for food that the mother is powerless to give is the most pitiful cry that the ages have known. Yet in the rich cities the child's hunger cry rises above the noise of their busy masses.

Every child has a right to be well born. In New Zealand there is a poverty which cannot be cured. It is outlined in the report for 1912 as follows: "To employ especially trained and qualified nurses, to be called 'plunket nurses, whose duties it will be to give sound reliable instruction, advice and assistance gratis to any member of the community distressed such services as mothers affecting the health and well-being of their children, during pregnancy and while nursing infants, and on matters affecting the health and well-being of children—all these things being done with a view to conserving the health and strength of the 'flourishing generation.' The motto of the society is, 'It is better to put a fence at the top of the precipice than to maintain an ambulance at the bottom.' The fact that the infantile death rate in New Zealand is lower than in any other part of the world is a large extent traceable to the work of this society. Even now there are thousands of women who cannot afford to pay for the services of a nurse during the time of their lying in. Physicians have not been slow to give evidence of mothers and infants by ignorant, although in some cases, kindly attendance. The remedy of this would seem to be the extension of free medical services, maternity hospitals and properly trained nurses.

"The business of being a baby," said a physician of some note, "must be classified as being an extra hazardous occupation." The death rate among infants, especially those surrounded by poverty, amply justifies the statement. In the spiritually appointed infant hospital on Randall's Island, New York city, little, lonely, motherless, foundlings pined away at an alarming rate and died like flies, until the committee, after investigating the matter, determined that every one of the bits of human driftwood was entitled to one pair of mother's arms, and that no institutional ingenuity could ever take the place of the maternal instinct. The result was the founding of the placing out system that has been employed with such marked success for some time. Infants separated from their mothers, who are compelled to work day after day, pass through much the same experience. Municipal creches or day nurseries have accomplished much. The same objection may be urged to them, however, as to founding hospitals; the difference is only one of degree, they do not answer to the universal child instinct for a mother's love and presence. It is doubtful if a community can afford to have its mothers going out to work.

Very frequently poverty forbids the parents giving their children wholesome, nourishing food. To this cause may be traced many cases of moral, as well as physical and mental malfeasance. An underfed child can offer but little resistance to any acute infectious disease. Their muscular development is poor; they tire readily; are able to take but little exercise and their circulation is sluggish. They become the

Looking After Families.
It is a very delicate mission which the Daughters of the Empire have on hand. The object of their existence is to see that families whose heads have gone to the front in the service of the country shall not want. Unfortunately, there are many superior women who would choose starvation rather than reveal their destination. And these are the people, who, pending the arrival of their checks from the federal government, are unhappily likely to feel the pinch.

MILLER-WILSON.

On September 30th a pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, "The Brides," north Edmonton, when their second daughter, Agnes, was united in marriage to Mr. Roy Miller, of Gravenhurst, Ontario, the Rev. Mr. Aldridge officiating. Promptly at 5 o'clock, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Tom Wilson, sister-in-law of the bride, the bride entered the room on the arm of her father, looking charming in her bridal veil of silk crepe and lace and her train of white tulle and lace. She was escorted to the altar by her father, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Aldridge. The bride and groom were then seated at a table decorated with white flowers. The bride wore a gown of white tulle and lace, and the groom wore a suit of dark cloth. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding was a very quiet and intimate affair.

At 10 o'clock the happy couple left amid showers of rice and confetti to spend a short honeymoon.

Youthful, Beautiful Skin Easy to Have

You may be as healthy as a bird in the bush, and yet have a complexion that is anything but beautiful. The reason is that your skin is not properly cared for. It is the most important part of your body, and it is the one that is most easily neglected. A beautiful complexion is the result of proper care and treatment. It is not necessary to use expensive cosmetics or to undergo painful procedures. All that is required is a little common sense and a few simple steps. First, wash your face thoroughly every day with a mild soap. Then, use a good quality skin cream or lotion. Finally, protect your skin from the sun by using a sunburn lotion. By following these simple steps, you can have a youthful, beautiful skin in no time.

CATCHERS IN WORLD SERIES ARE VERY EVENLY MATCHED

Probable That Only Four Receivers Will Be Used in Contests—Lapp and Schang for the Athletics While Gowdy and Whaling Will Work for Braves.

New York, Oct. 7.—In all likelihood only four men will be called upon to work at the receiving end of the bat during the coming world championship series between the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Braves. Each club will undoubtedly depend upon the two catchers who have given such a good account of themselves all through the playing season. They will take an important part in the struggle, as much as a catcher does the skill and muscle of an outfielder in a contest, he assumes an immense amount of responsibility. In fact, there is no feeling how many of the games are directed from behind the plate. In addition to catching, the catcher is the chief as to whether it is a strike or a ball, he is to a great extent, the eyes and ears of the pitcher. He is also in a position to advise the pitcher as to the location of the batter's feet and hands, and to advise the pitcher as to the location of the batter's feet and hands.

In this department Connie Mack is probably the more fortunate in having Lapp and Schang, both of whom have had previous experience in world championship games. Lapp played in the 1910, 1911 and 1912 seasons, each time on the winning side, and he will be the fourth time his services will be needed for the retention of the flag in Philadelphia. He is 30 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighs 170 pounds, and has been identified with professional baseball. He stands 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighs about 170 pounds. Last year he was in only one of the five games played to decide the championship. Schang on whom most of the work behind the bat devolved in the Athletics-Giants series a year ago, bore the brunt of the work throughout this year's American league season. Last year he caught in four of the five games played in the world's series and may do the larger share again in the coming contest.

RISE OF BOSTON BRAVES PHENOMENAL PERFORMANCE

On July 18 They Occupied the Cellar and on September 2 They Lead the League—Stalling's Genius Develops Modest Talent

Suppose that on the eighteenth day of last July a man had come to you and offered to bet that the Boston Braves would win the National league pennant. Would you have quoted him odds of 100 to 1, or asked for a luncheon commission to examine his sanity? Perhaps you wouldn't merely have laughed and marvelled at the powers of imagination given to some fellow. The odds against the Braves on the date mentioned were probably about 100 to 1. In fact, several bets are said to have been made in Boston about that time at prices far as long as Stalling's club was then a cellar dweller. Eleven games behind the Giants with the season nearly half over, the club having played 11 games.

The next day the Braves had advanced one place in the standing and were only 10½ games behind New York. By July 26 saw them in sixth position but still 10½ games rearward of the leaders. They slipped fifth place entirely, going from sixth to fourth July 21. But New York also was winning and losing, and the Braves were in the intervals between themselves and the top.

It took some time to get into second place, but the wonderful Bostonians finally arrived there August 10, being then only six games behind the leaders. Gradually this lead was cut down until September 2, the Stallings people occupied the topmost place alone for the first time in the season. They did not hold the lead long. New York outgait them on the fourth. But they leaped to second place in three games, September 7 and 8, leaping into the van once more on the last day. Since then the team has not been headed, gaining ground constantly on every club in the league.

About the first of the present month, it looked as though there might be a four-cornered fight, both the Cubs and Cardinals having a good chance of that time. But the world-champion club has gone about three weeks ago and could not maintain the pace set by the flying horsemen. From July 18 to last Boston has gained just 20 games on New York, a club which was conceded to have the pennant clinched for the first half of the season.

Stalling did not accomplish this marvelous feat by picking up any star players ready-made, either. He has signed only a few men since the beginning of his sport. Morgan, who came from Cincinnati to replace Smith, an ex-Braves, being the best of the acquisitions. Neither of these men could be rated a world-beater, they would never have been allowed to go by the club which sold them to Boston.

It has been a case of Stalling's genius for developing mediocre individuals into a winning club. Under any other leader, many of the Braves would be considered very ordinary, but under Stalling they are stars. He acts the part of a star. He gets the maximum efficiency out of every man on his team. Two great infielders, Evers and Morrill, and three fine pitchers, one of whom has been cast aside by McGraw, formed the real nucleus of the Braves. Barring Smith and Morgan, all the others have been developed into major league top-notchers through the miracles of the Stallings system. Whether this system will ever be making the Braves beat a team that is individually vastly superior in the world's series remains to be seen. But a victory over the Athletics in a seven games series would not be half so extraordinary as a victory over the whole National league in a schedule of 154 contests after such a start as Boston had.

The indefatigable of decisive tactics is the most striking characteristic of the present war.

HOCKEY HOLDOUTS IN FORT WILLIAM WANT NEW LEAGUE

Harry Scott, Jack Walker and Bobby Genge Are Dissatisfied with Contracts.

Fort William, Ont., Oct. 7.—Harry Scott, who starred with the Canadians in the National Hockey association last season, is one of the holdouts, having returned his contract unsigned. Jack Walker, of the Toronto, now at Fort Arthur, and Bobby Genge, of Victoria, who is here, emphatically say that they will not accept a pro-League in Fort William and Fort Arthur rather than accept six hundred dollar contracts. They would welcome the formation of the proposed new international league.

RUMORED JAS. GAFFNEY WILL BUY N.Y. YANKEES

New York, Oct. 7.—Negotiations have been practically completed between Jas. Gaffney, owner of the Boston Braves, will sell his majority interest in the National League pennant, broke his leg just above the ankle in sliding to second base in the ninth inning of yesterday's second game with Brooklyn. Smith will be unable to play in the world's series, and his place will be taken by Charles Deal, utility infielder.

Managers Stallings and Captain Evers, questioned last night as to the effect the loss of Smith would have on the work of the Braves in the championship series, both declared that his absence would be a serious handicap, as Deal could fill the place satisfactorily against the Athletics in the big series.

Deal played third base for the Braves during the early part of the season, but was injured and suffered from severe throat. It was stated tonight that Deal has fully recovered and will be in condition for the world's series.

The Braves left here for Philadelphia last night. There they will take up the fight for the championship series, which will begin on Friday.

NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE FOR 1914 IS COMPLETED

Brooklyn, Oct. 7.—By defeating Boston 3 to 2 in the opening game of the double header which closed the National league season here yesterday, Brooklyn finished with a record of 91 wins and 53 losses, and took the pennant. This is the best showing a Brooklyn team has made since 1907, when the Senators won the pennant in fifth place. "Red" Smith, the Boston third baseman, broke his leg in the first game yesterday and will not be able to play in the world's series against the Philadelphia Athletics. Boston took the second game 1 to 2, in seven innings. The new champions put a makeshift team into the field and its heavy hitting of buyers offering a result in an early lead. Strands, pitcher for Boston, made a good impression.

Smith of Braves Breaks His Leg

The Kaiser (Continued by F. W. B.)

Oh Kaiser, with your ideas bold, You're not a man, you're a god. To put forth all the strength you hold, And show what you can do.

You've got an army large and vast, And your navy's just as good. And you've always hinted in the past What you'd do if you could.

Now, there's France, Great Britain, Russia too, When you have got to quell, Your soul will be in hell.

So, Kaiser dear, make up your mind That these three countries free Don't mean to let one of your kind Cork up their liberty.

Command your navy like a man, Tell them to "Get Right," But in my doubtful if you can, They're scared of the bull dog's bite.

Why don't you have a crack or two At the British Lion's pride? But I guess you're scared to do that too, And you're afraid of the sea.

So now, dear Kaiser, look and see, To smash Great Britain on the sea, To what you have got to face.

I tell you, sir, you cannot know, You think you have undertaken; You think you'll win, don't you, but oh, You're very much mistaken.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.) There, gentlemen and ladies, you have it.

If you will call off the series and give us the receipts we will take those series as an official and save a great deal of time and trouble for all concerned.

The hope certainly points to a hard-fought series and (tough enough for two) another victory for the Athletics. On the theory that we should always root for the best team to win we ought to be rooting for the Athletics. But oddly enough about three-fourths of the baseball population is pulling hard for the Boston Braves.

This is because of the natural desire to see a perennial winner being defeated. The New York Giants did last year and you will recall that a lot of wise persons thought the Giants had a chance. The Athletics figure 21 points below what they did last fall.

Boston's pitching strength is much more evenly divided than was the case last year. One is the quiet, watchful driver, the other the fiery, slave-driving fellow who keeps his men spurred to the highest pitch by his own enthusiasm. Both are past masters at solving the signs and the strategy of the opposition.

There are all elements of a great series—whatever wins. And the winner will admit, after it is over, that he was lucky to get away with it.

FEDERALS WANT CHANCE TO MANAGE BALL TEAM

Chicago, Oct. 7.—James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal Baseball league last night said his organization had offered Frank Chance, former manager of the New York American club, the management of a Federal league club next season. Chance, he said, had taken a short time to consider the offer. He said if Chance refused the offer, the league would make no further effort to obtain his services.

Chance and Mrs. Chance resumed their automobile trip to California today.

THE KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it usually means you have been eating too much meat. Says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and lousy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach aches, tongue is coated, and the water in the bladder is bad. You have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels of ureters get sore, water wastes and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts: take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. The famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure, and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.
